NZPI HAMILTON 2013

A message from our Waikato Branch Conference hosts ...

The Waikato branch of the New Zealand Planning Institute invites you to attend the 2013 NZPI Conference in Hamilton.

The diverse Waikato region is the traditional home of the Waikato-Tainui iwi and encompasses New Zealand's fourth largest city, the country's longest river, a world class surf break and the world famous Waitomo Caves with its glowworms and adventure tourism activities.

Well-known for its nature-based tourism, underground adventure and off-the-beaten track experiences the Waikato region offers something for everyone, from the stunning black sand surf beaches of Raglan to Hamilton's vibrant café scene and the rolling hills and majestic forests that shape the landscape.

The 2013 NZPI conference will be held in Hamilton, based at the newly completed Claudelands Conference & Exhibition Centre. Located just a short walk from the Hamilton CBD, this venue has easy access to accommodation, restaurants, cafes and bars and the Waikato River.

We are planning an impressive line-up of stimulating international and New Zealand speakers with our theme of Stop, Collaborate and Listen providing the overarching context for the conference. We want you – planners and related professionals of all levels - to be challenged and inspired by the conference and look forward to your contribution and attendance.

Conference Theme:

Our theme of Stop, Collaborate and Listen is focussed on 2 core planning principles of consultation and collaboration.

Consultation being the process of seeking information or advice typically before undertaking a course of action.

Collaboration being the action of working with someone to produce something.

These broad areas of focus for the conference are topical not only in that they contribute to what could be considered best practice planning but also as the increased focus on these is changing the environment in which planning projects are undertaken, whether it be co-governance of the Waikato River, public private partnerships; alliances; water allocation rights; plan development, development agreements; or consenting processes.

These are exciting but challenging times, with the planning profession playing a pivotal part. Often, the process or outcome might seem unclear or uncertain. In those cases perhaps all that is needed is to Stop, Collaborate and Listen.

Key Conference Speakers:

Hon Amy Adams

Hon. Amy Adams is the Minister for the Environment and is also the Minister for Communications and Information Technology and the Associate Minister for Canterbury Earthquake Recovery. She was first elected to Parliament in 2008 and served in her first term as Chairperson of both the Finance and Expenditure and Electoral Legislation select committees and also served as a member of the Justice and Electoral and Regulations Review Committees. Prior to her parliamentary career, Amy worked as a solicitor and partner in various law firms and has been a Member, of the NZ Law Society's Women's Consultative Group. Amy is a previous member of the CDLS Property Law committee and the NZ Law Society's Women's Consultative Group and the Institute of Directors.

Patrick Reynolds

Patrick Reynolds is an Auckland based photographer with a particular interest in the built environment. He is known for both his expressive work which is included in collections such as Te Papa and the Auckland Art Gallery as well as his architectural photography career. His many publications include, most recently, Big House Small House [2012], with John Walsh, New New Zealand Houses [2007], and Homework [2010], also with John Walsh. And Villa [2009], with Jeremy Salmond and Jeremy Hansen. He also teaches Visual Communication and Urban Design at the School of Architecture and Planning at the University of Auckland. And is a member of the editorial team at Auckland Transport Blog, an online resource designed to promote improved analysis and a better understanding of New Zealand cities, particularly Auckland.

Duncan Innes

Duncan Innes is the London Legacy Development Corporation's Executive Director of Real Estate, with lead responsibility for the strategic development of land within Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park. His work involves close liaison with urban planners, designers, regeneration teams and developers to help create a new part of London bringing homes and jobs to the former Olympic Park.

Duncan has more than 25 years experience in the property industry covering both the private and public sectors.

He joined the Legacy Corporation from the Homes and Communities Agency where, as Head of Programmes, he took responsibility for the delivery of a number of national land and regeneration programmes. Before the creation of the HCA he worked for English Partnerships for 11 years, joining them from the Millennium Commission in 1997 to take responsibility for the Greenwich Millennium Village project and subsequently to run the National Millennium Communities Programme from 2001.

He was Regional Director for English Partnerships' Southern Region from 2003 until 2006 and for its London and Thames Gateway Region from 2006 until early in 2008. Before joining English Partnerships he spent eight years at a senior level with leading developer, Countryside Properties, working on major development and regeneration projects. Prior to that he worked for the London Docklands Development Corporation and the London Borough of Bromley.

Ann Skippers

Ann is a chartered town planner and director of Ann Skippers Planning based in Essex, United Kingdom. Ann has had a varied career which has spanned the public, private and academic sectors, but is best known for her role as RTPI President in 2010. As a strong advocate for the planning profession, Ann represented the professional institute's 23,000 members at various conferences and events in the United Kingdom, Ireland, the United States and Canada.

Ann's practice specialises in providing support and training to individuals, groups and local authorities about planning matters and neighbourhood planning. She believes that it is essential to keep to up to speed with the many changes the UK planning system has experienced over recent years and to understand the political nature of planning.

In 2011 Ann was invited to join the Labour Party's Housing Policy Review Group lead by Caroline Flint MP as an independent advisor on planning matters. A great believer in the importance of working together at a strategic level Ann has recently completed a two year period as Vice-President (Europe) of the Commonwealth Association of Planners.

Ann is currently Vice Chair of the Executive Board of the Construction Industry Council, Visiting Lecturer at University College London and a member of the national panel for the Civic Trust Awards.

Bruce Glavovic

Bruce holds the EQC Chair in Natural Hazards Planning at Massey University and is Associate Director of the Joint Centre for Disaster Research. He has degrees in economics and agricultural economics, environmental science, and urban and environmental planning.

He has over 25 years of experience in Government, consulting and academia in South Africa, USA, and NZ. His research explores role of land-use planning in building resilient and sustainable communities, with a focus on (i) Natural hazards planning, risk governance and disaster recovery: He is doing a comparative analysis of the Greater Christchurch earthquake sequence recovery process, and the post-Katrina and 2004 Indian Ocean tsunami recovery experiences. (ii) Coastal governance and integrated coastal management. He is Vice-Chair of the Scientific Steering Committee of IGBP-IHDP Land-Oceans Interactions in the Coastal Zone (LOICZ) programme. He is leading a UNESCO Intergovernmental Oceanographic Commission Technical Working Group to develop guidelines for managing coastal risk and climate change impacts. He has published widely in this field including two edited books: Integrated Coastal Zone Management: The Global Challenge (2008); and Ecological Economics of Oceans and Coasts (2008). (iii) Climate change adaptation, focusing on experience in NZ and coastal zones around the world as well as the nexus between climate change adaptation and disaster risk reduction. He is lead editor of two forthcoming books on this subject: Climate Change and the Coastal Zone (2013) Adapting to Climate Change: Lessons from Natural Hazards Planning (2013).

Ken Tremaine

Ken is the principal of a New Zealand consulting company specialising in development planning and regulatory efficiency. Some of his key professional interests span, land use, infrastructure and funding. He has a client base, which covers both the public and private sectors.

Prior to founding his consulting company in 2000 Ken was for 7 years, Director of the Environment and Local Government Consulting units for KPMG in Auckland. Before that he spent a number of years in senior management in local government. He was a member of the Upton Review Group which oversaw the completion of the Resource Management Act 1991.

Currently he is Implementation Advisor for the FutureProof Growth Management project in the Waikato. He is strategic advisor for the 50 year SmartGrowth growth management strategy which is being implemented by Environment Bay of Plenty, Tauranga District Council and the Western Bay District Council.

Tom Roa

Tom Roa has represented Puurekireki Marae in Waikato-Tainui Te Kauhanganui (Tribal Parliament) since its inception in 1999, and was a member of Waikato-Tainui Te Arataura (Tribal Executive) between 2000-2005.

Between 2006-2010 he was Chair of Te Kauhanganui. He was re-elected to Te Arataura in 2012 and is the current Chair. He is a Justice of the Peace and a lecturer at the University of Waikato.

Pre-Conference Workshops - Tuesday 30 April (1pm-5pm unless specified otherwise)

The Rodney Davies Research Symposium 2013

Hosted by: Jan Crawford, Planning Consultants Ltd

This half-day symposium will focus on the findings of recent research on planning and governance issues of particular value to practitioners.

Chairperson: Caroline Miller, Associate Professor, Massey University

Keynote speaker: Professor Stephen Olsen, USA (by videolink)

Theme: The ecosystem approach to planning and decision making

Professor Olsen recently retired from 40 years as director of the Coastal Resources Center at the University of Rhode Island. He is an expert in integrated coastal and marine management and developed the orders of outcome framework which he first applied to ecosystem management in Asia. Dr Olsen is currently working with SustainaMetrix, based at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. His latest projects are integrated coastal and marine management in Ghana and a comparative assessment of capacity to practice coral reef management in seven US jurisdictions.

Invitation to be a presenter:

Any university faculty and practitioners who would like to present their research are invited to participate. Research related to Professor Olsen's theme is particularly relevant.

Students undertaking PhD or Master's research are also welcome to talk about their 'works in progress.'

Urban Design

The Sum of All Parts

This urban design hui will focus on whether truly sustainable urban design can be delivered in isolation. Isolation by location, isolation by aspiration, or isolation by discipline? Are technical disciplines and communities collaborating more to deliver great urban design outcomes for kiwi communities? An update from the UDF Committee will discuss the current status of the urban design protocol and where to form here for urban design in New Zealand.

Maori Planning Hui Tuesday 1 May 10am-5pm

Co-Management in Action

Tena koutou nga Rangatira ma

The Maori Special Interest Group invites you to attend a hui where we are keen to have discussions and see examples on Co-Management as it is being applied here in New Zealand. Shifts in responsibilities with greater opportunities as to roles for Iwi/Maori Authorities are being experienced around the country, nationally and at regional and local council levels as well as in the community. The Maori Hui for the 2013 Conference will provide a practical perspective as to how Co-Management is being applied as well as showcasing present day examples of collaboration in action.

Elected Representatives Workshop

Working within Iwi Partnerships

Kaore e whakatika te haerenga o Hau.
Engari e whakatika te Koomaru.

You cannot change the direction of the wind, but you can change the direction of your sail. (Maori proverb)

This session for elected members will be about working with iwi under the new regime of co-governance and co-management following the passing of the Waikato-Tainui River Settlement Act 2010 and the Nga Wai o Maniapoto (Waipa River) Act 2012.

The session will be split into two parts with the first session being a presentation and discussion with the Waikato River Authority. The second session will be a presentation and discussion with the Waikato Regional Council and the Waikato District Council about the integration of Joint Management Agreements within the planning and regulatory framework of council governance and management.

Field Trips: Friday 3 May (all day)

Out n the Styx - Maungatautari Ecological Island; High Performance Rowing; Airport Business Park and Tourism Masterplanning

Rolling on the River - challenging journey by mountain bike along the mighty Waikato River to experience the magic and beauty of remote New Zealand. (a trip for those athletes among us).

Electric Blue - Travel from the oldest operational hydroelectric power station in NZ to one of the purest water sources in the world, the Blue Spring, revered for its exceptional clarity and exquisite blue hues.

Caves 'n Kiwis - venture south into the King Country, stopping in at Otorohanga's famous Kiwi House and enjoying the natural beauty and history of Waitomo Caves; a New Zealand tourism hub for over 120 years.

Hobbits & other Holes - see the Hobbiton movie set, then visit Te Aroha Domain heritage buildings and take a tour of the former Tui Mine site, formally the most contaminated site in New Zealand, recently rehabilitated.

Express Yourself - and sail the 'C's through four sections of the Waikato Expressway - from Collaboration, Consenting, Construction to Completion - you'll be significantly impressed!

Dam good! - Tour the Karapiro power station, visit the training ground of NZ's gold medal winning rowers, paddle Lake Karapiro for yourself and enjoy a walk along the Waikato River Trails.

From the Winds to the Sea - A day out on the West Coast where delegates will be visiting the Te Uku wind farm and then taking a boat trip around the Whanagaroa Harbour to look at local issues of harbour restoration, working with the local iwi on the Whaanga Coast and planning for future urban development in the Raglan seaside village.

The Hamilton Experience - Look forward to the Hamilton of the future and, experience and explore two of the treasures of the City, Hamilton Gardens and the Waikato River.

YP Congress 2013

The New Zealand Planning Institute National Young Planners Group invites all YPs to attend YPCongress 2013 in Hamilton on the 30th of April, 2013. Hamilton, or 'The Tron', is famously and correctly known as the 'City of the Future'. Upon entering the city, you will be thrust 40 years into the future.

Join experts in the fields of demographics, transportation planning, environmental trends, and urban form as you analyse current planning trends, workshop your way through the planning issues forecast to challenge us in 2052, and develop a plan for your 'City of the Future'.

This is a hands on, heads down Congress that will challenge your abilities to think outside of the framework and provide you with an inspiring outlook on the future of your career.

YPCongress 2013 is held in conjunction with the New Zealand Planning Institute Conference, Stop, Collaborate and Listen, the title of which is featured in the 1989 single Ice Ice Baby. The conference is shaping up to be full of interesting and provoking speakers and field trips to some of the region's most beautiful locales.

Pre- and Post- Congress festivities will accompany your pan-dimensional journey throughout the week to provide stress-relief and networking opportunities.

We all look forward to seeing you in April!

Regards,

Leon Keefer

YPCongress 2013 Convenor
