

Dennis Walsh, Futurist, Canada

Dennis Walsh is recognised as a visionary thought leader and corporate strategist, he advises organizations on matters as diverse as global trends, plausible scenarios, emerging markets and business opportunities. When he isn't consumed by connecting the dots between what is and what could be, he is writing a four book series on the future of cities.