

Planning Adviser

- Interesting and challenging work
- Career opportunity
- Great lifestyle

As the result of an internal promotion, we are seeking a Planning Adviser to join our growing professional team. You will have the opportunity to work across a broad range of resource management issues, including air quality, iwi, biodiversity, landscape, growth and development, hazards, coastal, freshwater and open space.

Our current focus is on the further development of the Nelson Plan, a truly integrated second generation resource management plan, which includes the exciting development of an ePlan.

Your experience working with the Local Government Act and Resource Management Act will complement your written and verbal communication skills and ability to work autonomously. You will actively engage with the Nelson community and present clear information and feedback to Council.

This challenging role will extend your policy development and resource management expertise.

If you would like to see the impact of your work and you meet the competencies listed below, this could be the role for you! Please clearly articulate in your cover letter how your experience to date is directly related to the competencies required for this role.

- Experience in policy analysis, resource management and plan writing
- Demonstrates a customer focused approach towards public consultation and successfully applied public engagement methodologies
- Sound understanding of planning/resource management/bylaws, frameworks and practice in New Zealand
- Good communication and relationship management skills
- Personal prioritisation and time management skills
- Project management experience
- Hold a minimum of an undergraduate degree in a related field (e.g. resource management, planning)
- Membership of NZPI is desirable
