

ENVIRONMENTAL PLANNER

We are seeking an environmental planner/scientist with 4-plus years experience to join our team of specialist consultants. We work on a wide variety of interesting and exciting projects for a very strong and loyal client base, whose work takes us into a number of different districts and regions of New Zealand.

The successful candidate will have a professional focus on sustainability principles and a working knowledge of how the industrial, manufacturing, construction and extractive sectors operate within the RMA system. Experience with environmental management planning, compliance reporting and air, land, water enhancement projects would be an advantage. An understanding of policy development work will also support our environmental project-based assignments.

We believe the successful candidate will have a strong commitment to advancing their career and will have developed a reputation among their peers for producing work of a consistently high standard, and for being principled and articulate.

Our company offers a progressive employment package. We also offer a supportive working environment with a strong focus on professional mentoring, development and growth.

Our team operates from attractive offices in Auckland's downtown CBD, one minute's walk from bus, ferry and rail services.

Applications for the position, together with your CV and any other relevant documentation, needs to be sent to kirstie.crocker@hainesplanning.co.nz or PO Box 90842, Victoria Street West, Auckland 1142, no later than 19 July 2019.

Any enquiries regarding the position will be treated in strict confidence and can be directed to David Haines (021 677 432).
