

HERITAGE NEW ZEALAND POUHERE TAONGA

Planner

Based in Dunedin

Heritage New Zealand is New Zealand's lead agency for the identification, protection, preservation and conservation of our historical and cultural heritage. There is a vacancy for an experienced resource management planner for Otago and Southland based in the Otago/Southland Area Office located in Dunedin. Some travel within these areas will be required.

This position provides a real opportunity to make a highly significant contribution as part of Heritage New Zealand's Otago/Southland team in promoting the protection and conservation of New Zealand's important historic places. Your expertise, personality and creativity is needed to complement a committed multidisciplinary team of specialists in our central city office.

The position involves proactive engagement with local authorities and property owners to develop strategies, policies, plans and consenting processes to recognise and provide for the retention and ongoing use of historic heritage. It is a busy, but rewarding, position for a planner with an understanding and appreciation of the importance of heritage and how it enhances the places New Zealanders call 'home'.

A tertiary qualification in planning or related field is required.

This position is being re-advertised. Applications close on Thursday 5 September at 5pm.
