

Consents Officer

Our vision is for a thriving Southland - environmentally, socially, economically, and culturally.

Our dynamic and energetic resource consents team plays a key role in delivering Environment Southland's vision for a thriving Southland. To help us achieve this, we are looking for a clever and enthusiastic resource planner to join us. This role is complex, fast paced and varied and offers excellent opportunities for professional and personal growth.

Are you up for the challenge?

You will have experience as a consents officer and/or a tertiary qualification in an area of environmental management. You'll also have the ability to think outside of the box, provide excellent customer service and have a great sense of humour.

We can offer you:

- fully flexible hours;
- forward thinking resource management work with an inclusive and experienced team;
- a positive and supportive work culture.

Southland offers you:

- wilderness at your back door;
- affordable housing;
- short commutes;
- the Southern Lights.

Environment Southland is responsible under the Resource Management Act 1991 for looking after the region's natural and physical resources. You could have a fundamental part in achieving this, so come and join us.

An initial offer of remuneration will be made within the range $63,665 - $71,155 per annum.
