

Resource Management Planner - Policy

Life's good in Waitaki. Big enough for some alone time yet small enough to care, if you lived here you could climb a mountain, look up at a sky full of stars, earn enough and spend an average of two minutes a day commuting. House prices are low compared to the rest of the country and the work life balance is tipped in the life direction.

We need a Planner to assist in our small but busy District Plan Review team.

You'll be joining at a critical time as our draft District Plan process is just about to go out into the wider community. Your ability to build relationships, understand the issues and work with a wide range of groups and organisations to achieve desired outcomes is going to be crucial.

It's a job with plenty of variety and challenges, including some nationally significant issues to resolve. You'll get to do a bit of everything including zoning, heritage, urban design, landscape and biodiversity all the while being at the cutting edge of the new National Planning Standards and Resource Management Reform.

This is a fantastic opportunity to develop your career in our small friendly environment or gain valuable experience in resource management policy. We want someone who wants to make a difference, someone who wants to bring the kids and enrol them in our great schools, someone who has a great attitude. You should have some experience as a resource consent planner and a relevant tertiary qualification. You'll need the ability to think outside the box, be able to engage with diverse communities and work as part of an awesome team who make a difference to our community and environment.

Waitaki District is growing, with opportunities to unlock our potential heritage, waterfront, landscape and biodiversity resources. Help shape the future of the Waitaki District and make the most of the lifestyle we have to offer with great lakes, ski fields, mountain bike and 4WD tracks, epic wilderness and unique wildlife. The district has extensive Maori and Victorian heritage, award-winning restaurants and wineries along with a town full of fantastic urban facilities including an art gallery, library, museum, swimming pool and opera house.

If you're looking for a change or need a challenge, then apply now!

Any enquiries can be made to Hamish Barrell, Heritage and Planning Manager phone 03 433 0300.
