

PLANNERS – ALL LEVELS

NATIONWIDE

Join our national planning team working on exciting and complex urban and environmental planning projects.

We are appointing planners to take on key technical project delivery roles working across our national planning practice. This is an excellent opportunity to further raise your national profile working within a strong and supportive team. We are leading the delivery of some of New Zealand's most complex and transformational planning and environmental management projects including the City Rail Link (Link Alliance), Supporting Growth Alliance, Hamilton's biking and micro-mobility programme and New Zealand's first National Climate Change and Risk Assessment (NCCRA). You will be working with technical leaders across our national environment business in statutory, spatial and policy planning, sustainability, stakeholder engagement and natural resource management. In addition to our local teams you will have opportunities to draw on our international planning networks and work collaboratively with our ANZ colleagues on best practice planning, innovation and project delivery.

THE ROLE

You will be a key technical advisor providing expert advice and guidance to internal and external clients, building and enhancing client relationships, winning work and delivering excellent project outcomes. We have offices in Auckland, Hamilton, Christchurch and Wellington with the potential to work from any of these locations.

The successful candidate will:

- Deliver complex urban and environmental planning projects supporting healthy and vibrant community outcomes and transformational transport/infrastructure projects.
- Participate in creative stakeholder and public engagement
- Maintain and develop key client relationships.
- Prepare and manage preparation of applications requiring statutory approval (i.e. resource consents, across diverse industry sectors, notices of requirement, assessment of environmental effects).
- Prepare statutory and non-statutory planning policy documents and work on a range of technical documents, including consent strategies, assessment of alternatives and social impact assessments.
- Provide strategic and policy planning advice on local, regional and national planning policy.
- Represent clients and providing expert evidence at statutory hearings.
- Provide mentoring and career development support to team members.

ABOUT YOU

- A Resource Management or Planning qualification (a masters degree qualification is an advantage).
- Full NZPI membership or eligibility.

- Demonstrated technical experience in areas such as: master planning, infrastructure planning, urban design, spatial, policy and land use planning, statutory RMA planning, public engagement, project management, strategy, business cases.
- Confident in preparing and presenting evidence.
- Excellent analytical, writing, communication and interpersonal skills.
- Passionate, collaborative and supportive team member.
- Excellent analytical, writing, communication and interpersonal skills.
- Demonstrated ability to problem solve and deliver quality technical analyses and reports.
- Local government statutory and/or strategic policy planning experience would be an advantage.

WHAT WE CAN OFFER YOU

The Workplace Gender Equality Agency (WGEA) recognises AECOM as taking a sophisticated, holistic approach to supporting women and men's equal participation throughout our workplace. We provide a diverse and inclusive work environment and offer many benefits to ensure your professional development and wellbeing:

- A great team and culture
- Fun and challenging work environment
- Diverse and high profile project work
- Working alongside global industry leaders
- Working on complex and interesting NZ based projects and exposure to offshore projects
- Flexible start and finish times, working from home, part time, and job share options
- A competitive salary and great benefits.

Get in touch if you're interested in learning more about AECOM and the opportunities for you within our business.

Contact Rachel Edens (rachel.edens@aecom.com) for a confidential discussion

APPLY ONLINE:

<https://jobs.aecom.com/TGWEbHost/jobdetails.aspx?partnerid=20052&siteid=5022&areq=198278BR>