

Intermediate Planner – Casual Position

- Work from home
- Flexible hours
- Predominantly Southland and Otago consents
- Work involves writing up resource consent applications for subdivision and/or land use
- Supportive environment and IT support provided where necessary.

Your job is to support a busy planner in a private planning consultancy. Most of the work will involve writing up the consent applications and answering further information requests where necessary. May suit someone wanting flexibility to work around children, or who is semi-retired. Hours will be flexible from both sides and will vary depending on workload and the applicant's availability. About 10 to 20 hours a week is anticipated.

Requirements:

- At least two years' planning experience
- Excellent written English
- Self motivation to work from home
- A home environment that will make this possible
